1. PURPOSE

Byron Shire Council recognises that the daily lives of residents and visitors can be enriched and enlivened through the presence of quality works of art in the Shire. Council also recognises that a collection of such art will attract visitors with shared values.

Public Art is one way to recognise local artists and values while adding a new dimension to public spaces in the Shire. This policy is designed to support Public Art in Byron Shire within a framework that clearly outlines the practical considerations for management and selection of such artwork. The framework will ensure the distinctiveness and mix of cultural values in each of the towns, rural villages and localities is reflected by Public Art installations. It is to be used by Council staff and external parties such as developers, architects and urban designers for commissioning new works, acquiring existing works, collection management and maintenance.

Public Art falls under the Community Strategic Plan theme of Society and Culture - Resilient, creative and active communities with a strong sense of local identity and place.

The Public Art Policy guides public art commissioned by Council, or acquired by purchase, donation or transfer, as well as providing a framework for the management and promotion of the collection of visual art owned by Council. The Policy also informs public art installations commissioned as part of private development.

2. OBJECTIVES

A high standard of public art through:

1. The establishment of consistent and effective processes for the procurement and de-commissioning of public art, which are appropriate to the budget, function, social impact and expected longevity of the piece;
2. The implementation of a whole-of-Council approach to the commissioning of public art in the Byron Shire to ensure the highest possible standards in both process and outcome;
3. The identification of opportunities for the commissioning or acquisition of public art by Council, the private sector and other stakeholders, including property developers, that contribute to creating a profile of the Byron Shire as an important cultural destination;
4. Encouraging collaboration and fostering investment within the business and wider community and leveraging Council's funds through grant, sponsorship or other opportunities;
5. The strengthening of the Byron Shire cultural economy through the employment, training and provision of professional development opportunities for local artists, designers and project managers;
6. The provision of opportunities, through public art projects, for the celebration and interpretation of the Byron Shire's heritage and contemporary culture for both residents and visitors.

3. SCOPE

The focus of this policy is on art works in public spaces or on private sites which impact on the public domain. This includes any area in a public space that is deemed appropriate by Council including parks, public buildings, streetscapes, and other public recreation areas.

This policy also applies to public owned or managed lands:

- 3.1. Private commercial, retail, tourist, event, leisure and recreation developments with a value over $1,000,000 (as governed by the Development Control Plan).
- 3.2. All Council developments or programs that are concerned with the natural and built environment including:
 - a) capital works
 - b) urban design
 - c) integrated planning and design
 - d) environment and parks

- 3.3. Projects by non-council parties on areas owned or managed by Council.
- 3.4. Facilitation of projects by Council where others own or occupy the area.
- 3.5. Section 94 contributions for Public Art.

This policy excludes privately owned or managed land and buildings for domestic purposes.

Special conditions in the policy:

Donations of money for Public Art will be utilised in public places where deemed appropriate by Council. Priority will be given to installation of permanent public art as determined by the Public Art Panel.

4. DEFINITIONS

Public Art	Defined in the broadest sense as artistic works or activities accessible to the public. The work may be of a temporary or permanent nature. Located in or part of a public space or facility provided by both the public and private sector, public art also includes the conceptual contribution of an artist to the design of public spaces and facilities.
Placemaking	Placemaking is the process of enhancing and creating publicly accessible places that respond to the local context and build meaningful relationships between people and their local environment. There are many aspects to placemaking, including place activation and place management. At its core, placemaking aims to capture the unique 'essence' or character of a place and to protect, support and build on a local area's authentic attributes. Public Art can be an important contributor to a holistic placemaking approach.
Community Art	A collection of work that arises from a community need and contributes to a narrative about the community for residents and visitors. These works of art are not to the scale and type as public art and are generally not subject to the commissioning process that is required of large public art works. They may be commissioned by community groups in public spaces or provided by artists donating their skills/ art to the community. They are of a more temporary nature and typically include such art as murals and small-scale mosaic projects involving community workshops or similar.
Visual Art Collection	Council have received a collection of visual artworks over many years by collection donation or acquisition. As there is no public gallery in Byron Shire, these artworks are displayed in public buildings such as Council offices and community facilities.

4. Public Art Strategy

A Public Art Strategy is required to achieve the aims and objectives of the Policy, to articulate the values, priorities and identify suitable locations for Public Art.

5. Public Art Guidelines and Criteria

Guidelines are required to assist Council with the procurement of public art which provides clear processes with regards to commissions, acquisitions, bequests and Council capital works; and embodies current best practice.

6. Public Art Register

A Public Art asset register is a comprehensive database of all public artworks throughout the Shire which is maintained as per Council policies on the maintenance of assets.

7. LEGISLATIVE AND STRATEGIC CONTEXT

The Public Art Policy is in response to the Byron Shire Cultural Policy and Cultural Plan 2008-2012, of which a strategic action was to develop a public art policy to:

- i) add vibrancy and a sense of local identity in towns and villages
- ii) provide direction on the construction and/or refurbishment of community buildings
- iii) provide direction on the construction of new developments including open public spaces.

The development of the Byron Bay Town Centre Masterplan in 2015/16 saw a new focus on placemaking activities in Byron Bay. The success of the Byron Bay Town Centre Masterplan has led to the development of 'master-plans' for other Byron Shire communities.

Measuring the outcome of cultural activities has historically been challenging, often resulting in economic, social, civic or environmental outcomes.

With the adoption of 'Culture: Fourth Pillar of Sustainable Development' by the United Cities and Local Governments (UCLG), of which all Australian councils are members, the Cultural Development Network have been working with Local Government NSW to standardise measurement of the value of cultural activities.

The evaluation of public art projects will use the cultural outcome measurements including:

- Stimulation - creatively stimulated;
- Enrichment - aesthetic enrichment experienced;
- Insight - new knowledge, ideas and insights gained;
- Appreciation - cultural diversity appreciated;
- Belonging - connection to shared heritage experienced.

Public Art has a broad reach across a range of policy areas including social, civic, economic and environmental outcomes.
